A Protocol for Implementing Priority of Service For Veterans and Eligible Spouses

Prepared by:

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Employment and Training Administration (ETA)

and

Veterans Employment and Training Service (VETS)

INTRODUCTION

It is the responsibility of the public workforce system to provide priority of service to all veterans and eligible spouses who receive services under any qualified job training program funded in whole or in part by the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL). With the many competing priorities that the workforce system is facing during this challenging economic environment, it is critical that the system ensure priority of service to veterans and their eligible spouses.

Through this protocol for implementing Priority of Service (POS), the Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration (ETA) is providing technical assistance to the workforce system at all levels, including One-Stop Career Centers, local Workforce Investment Boards (WIBs), State Workforce Agencies, and other targeted grant programs, to help them enact policies and procedures to ensure that POS is implemented fully and effectively for veterans and their eligible spouses.

WHO IS A COVERED PERSON?

A veteran who is eligible or spouse of an eligible veteran who is entitled to receive priority of service is a person who has served at least one day in the active military, naval, or air service, and who was discharged or released from service under any condition other than a condition classified as dishonorable is a covered person. This definition includes Reserve units and National Guard units activated for Federal Service.

It is important to note that the definition of veteran in the Jobs For Veterans Act (JVA), the Priority of Service Regulations and TEGL 10-09 differs from the definition of veteran that applies to reporting of Wagner-Peyser services and to eligibility to receive services from a Disabled Veterans' Outreach Program (DVOP) specialist or a Local Veterans' Employment Representative (LVER) staff member. The veteran definition that requires the individual to have over 180 days of active service still applies to Wagner-Peyser reporting and to eligibility for DVOP and LVER services but does not apply to priority of service in DOL-funded employment and training programs. It is the responsibility of the program operator to ensure that policies and procedures and staff training reflect the correct eligibility definition.

BACKGROUND

The Jobs for Veterans Act (JVA), PL 107-288, signed into law on November 7, 2002, requires that there be priority of service for veterans and eligible spouses in any workforce preparation, development, or delivery program or service directly funded in whole or in part, by the U.S. Department of Labor (38 U.S.C. 4215). The Priority of Service regulations, codified at 20 CFR 1010, were issued December 19, 2008 and require qualified job training programs to implement priority of service for veterans and eligible spouses, effective January 19, 2009.

To provide additional guidance to the workforce investment system and all impacted grantees, the ETA and the Veterans' Employment and Training Service (VETS) issued guidance regarding implementation of priority of service on November 10, 2009, through Training and Guidance Letter (TEGL) 10-09 and Veterans' Program Letter (VPL) No. 07-09. That guidance details the requirements of State Workforce Agencies (SWAs), local WIBs, and One-Stop Career Centers in providing priority of service to veterans and eligible spouses; the law refers to these individuals as "covered persons." For the purpose of this Protocol, we will refer to covered persons as "veterans and eligible spouses." Those persons not eligible for priority of service are referred to in this protocol as "non-covered persons."

Service providers should have processes in place at the point of entry to the system to identify veterans and eligible spouses who are entitled to priority of service. Priority of service means the right of veterans and eligible spouses to take precedence over a non-covered person in obtaining all employment and training services. Depending on the type of service, this may mean veterans and eligible spouses receive services earlier in time or instead of non-covered persons.

GOAL FOR THIS PROTOCOL

The goal of this Protocol is to provide action steps to support the strategic planning of the SWAs, local WIBs, One-Stop Career Centers, and other targeted grantees and to provide effective strategies for service delivery for veterans and eligible spouses in One-Stop Career Centers. This Protocol can also help assess current procedures and improve priority of service methods for all levels of the workforce system.

The Protocol amplifies information from the Priority of Service regulations, TEGL 10-09 and VPL 07-09 and does not contain any new or conflicting information. Its purpose is to provide information, suggestions, and examples about how to effectively implement priority of service to meet the requirements of the Department's regulations. After reviewing this protocol, individuals managing the Department's grants, will have useful tools and examples to help inform their planning and implementation of priority of service.

DETERMINING THE STATUS OF A VETERAN

Veteran status is determined from answers to some key questions:

1. "Did the individual serve on active duty in the U.S. Armed Services?"
2. "Is the individual still in the Armed Forces?"

Answers of "yes" to the first question and "no" the second question may qualify the person as a veteran or eligible spouse.

3. "Finally, what type of discharge did the individual receive?"

NOTE:

- The full definition of veteran and eligible spouse is specified in 38 U.S.C. 101(2).
- The definition of veteran for the purposes of priority of service is different from the definition of veteran that applies under the Wagner-Peyser Act. To meet the requirements of priority of service, you must use the definition included in 20 CFR 1010.
- Only a veteran's discharge clearly categorized as "Dishonorable" would bar a veteran or a veteran's spouse from eligibility for priority of service.

Any discharge that is not dishonorable qualifies the individual as a veteran who is entitled to priority of service

DETERMINING THE STATUS OF ELIGIBLE SPOUSES

An "eligible spouse" means a spouse of any of the following:

- a. A spouse of any veteran who died of a service-connected disability;
- b. A spouse of any member of the Armed Forces serving on active duty who, at the time of application for the priority, is listed in one or more of the following categories and has been so listed for a total of more than 90 days;
 - i. Missing in action;
 - ii. Captured in the line of duty by a hostile force; or
 - iii. Forcibly detained or interned in the line of duty by a foreign government or power.
- c. A spouse of any veteran who has a total disability resulting from a service-connected disability, as evaluated by the Department of Veterans Affairs; or
- d. A spouse of any veteran who died while a disability was in existence.

A spouse whose eligibility is derived from a living veteran or service member (categories b. or c. above) would lose his or her eligibility if the veteran or service member was to lose the status that is the basis for the eligibility (e.g. if a veteran with a total service-connected disability were to receive a revised disability rating at a lower level). Similarly, a spouse whose eligibility is derived from a living veteran or service member would lose that eligibility upon divorce from the veteran or service member. However, a spouse who qualifies under categories a. or d. would not lose covered status through subsequent remarriage.

THE STATE WORKFORCE AGENCY'S ROLE IN IMPLEMENTING PRIORITY

The process of effectively and uniformly implementing priority of service begins with the State Workforce Agency conducting a strategic review and analysis of its policies and procedures to identify where priority of service applies and where guidance from the state is needed.

While the Priority of Service Regulations and joint guidance issued by ETA and VETS provide definitions and requirements, the state has a strong role in applying them to their programs by creating and implementing policies, procedures and ensuring that priority of service is implemented uniformly and appropriately across its local systems

COMMUNICATIONS

Implement communication strategies among SWAs, local WIBs, One-Stop Career Center managers, and sub-recipients to ensure that policy changes and expectations are clearly articulated, strategies for priority of service are clearly conveyed, and solutions to barriers to priority of service are generated and shared.

To meet the requirements in the regulations and the TEGL, and to ensure that veterans and eligible spouses receive the priority of service offered to them by law, states should have comprehensive policies, state plans, procedures and processes that address:

- ◆ Implementation of priority of service by the State Workforce Agency, local WIBs, and One-Stop Career Centers for all employment and training services delivered through the state's workforce system;
- ◆ Guidance for local WIBs on strategic planning and required areas for policy and service delivery changes;
- ◆ Necessary adjustments to Web sites and other portals by which job seekers remotely access resources, including self-service resources, to notify users of priority of service to ensure veterans and eligible spouses receive this benefit;
- ◆ Integration of DVOP specialists and LVER staff members, both as sources of information on priority of service, as well as specialized service providers for those veterans who qualify to receive their services;
- ◆ Language in contracts, sub-contracts, solicitations for grant awards, sub-grants, memoranda of understanding (MOUs), and other service provision agreements to ensure compliance with priority of service by sub-recipients;
- ◆ Data collection procedures and tools to track services to veterans and eligible spouses; and
- ◆ Monitoring of sub-recipients to ensure compliance with priority of service requirements.

STATE STRATEGIC PLANNING AND GUIDANCE

States and local areas should include veteran's priority of service in their strategic planning. The state's planning should consider:

1. Recently separated veterans who are in need of support to enter the civilian workforce for the first time, including veterans who need assistance in transferring their skills, experience, and credentials to the civilian job market;
2. Veterans who have been back in the civilian workforce for some time and may be experiencing unemployment as a result of the economic downturn; and
3. Veterans who have had long periods of unemployment and may require additional support due to homelessness, disabilities or other barriers to employment.

Veteran's priority of service should be included in local planning as well. State Workforce Agencies should encourage local WIBs and One-Stop Career Centers to use data and e-tools to inform strategic planning at the local level to serve veterans and eligible spouses. This might include labor market information, O*NET, military credential translation, and other e-tools which will inform and support the strategic implementation of priority of service. States should encourage local WIBs and One-Stop Career Centers to investigate strategic partnering with required and optional One-Stop partners and other organizations to serve veterans and eligible spouses. This may include partnering with local non-profits to participate in stand downs for homeless veterans; DOL VETS programs; and the Department of Veterans Affairs offices to support the needs of the veteran community. In addition to incorporating veteran's priority of service into strategic planning, states should include specific veteran's priority of service information in its WIA/Wagner-Peyser Act state plan.

A stand down for homeless veterans is a secure event where veterans are able to take care of personal hygiene, get clean clothing, enjoy warm meals, receive medical and dental care, mail and receive letters, and enjoy the camaraderie of friends in a safe environment. For a list of events, visit <http://www.nchv.org/standdownevents.cfm>

See TEGL 10-09 guidance for implementation of priority of service for veterans and eligible spouses in all qualified job training programs funded in whole or in part by DOL.

LOCAL WORKFORCE INVESTMENT BOARD ROLE IN IMPLEMENTING PRIORITY OF SERVICE

Similar to the process recommended for State Workforce Agencies, local WIBs are encouraged to begin by conducting a strategic review and analysis of their policies, procedures, and service delivery strategies to identify points where priority of service should be implemented. While the local WIB policy is likely to mirror state policies, it is critical that policies addressing priority of service are operationalized in a way that provides veterans and eligible spouses with the full range of employment and training services in a manner that is comprehensive, customer-driven, and seamless.

The guidance issued by the Department requires local WIBs to develop policies implementing priority of service for the One-Stop Career Centers and other service delivery providers in their strategic local plan. Policies should inform veterans and eligible spouses of:

- ◆ Their entitlement to priority of service;
- ◆ The full array of employment, training, and placement services available under priority of service; and
- ◆ Any applicable eligibility requirements for those programs and/or services.

ONE-STOP CAREER CENTER ROLE IN IMPLEMENTING PRIORITY OF SERVICE

While only minor adjustments may be needed, at a minimum, One-Stop Career Centers need to review and evaluate whether their current policies, procedures, and service delivery processes meet the requirements of law and regulations along with the applicable TEGL and this supplementary guidance. Additionally, staff at all levels will need training to understand the depth and breadth of what the law requires. In some One-Stop Career Centers, changes may be minimal and involve updates to policies.

ONE-STOP CAREER CENTER POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Local One-Stop Career Centers must develop local policies and procedures to improve integration of priority of service into existing service delivery strategies. This means that One-Stop managers should establish business processes to ensure that veterans and eligible spouses are identified at the "point of entry" and to facilitate the implementation of priority of service by informing veterans and eligible spouses of:

1. Their entitlement to priority of service;
2. The full array of employment, training and placement services available under priority of service; and
3. Any applicable eligibility requirements for those programs and/or services.

Point of Entry

can include Reception Areas, Resource Areas, Web sites, Self-service Kiosks, and Informational bulletin boards, etc.

QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER

Has the One-Stop Career Center evaluated its service provision to all groups of veterans including:

1. Separating veterans who are in need of support to enter the civilian workforce for the first time including veterans who need assistance transferring their skills, experience, and credentials to the civilian job market;
2. Veterans who have been back in the civilian workforce for some time and may be experiencing unemployment as a result of the economic downturn; and
3. Veterans who have had long periods of unemployment and may require additional support due to homelessness, or disabilities and other barriers to employment?

TRAINING OF ONE-STOP CAREER CENTER STAFF

Helping veterans obtain training and employment is the responsibility of all One-Stop Career Center staff. All One Stop Career Center staff should be trained in priority of service requirements. This training will allow veterans' representatives and One-Stop Career Center program staff to learn about veterans' needs and the resources available to help veterans access the full range of services available in the community.

AREAS OF STAFF TRAINING SHOULD INCLUDE:

- ◆ Understanding the definitions of veteran and eligible spouse;
- ◆ Knowing the requirements of priority of service;
- ◆ Obtaining DD-214 forms and other state-approved documentation of veteran status and clarifying when that documentation must be provided;
- ◆ Providing training on the specific needs of various populations of veterans and eligible spouses;
- ◆ Using data and tools that are specific to serving veterans, to evaluate military experience and credentials against civilian occupations;
- ◆ Understanding the criteria that qualify some veterans and eligible spouses for the specialized services of DVOP specialists and LVER staff; and
- ◆ Becoming familiar with other services available to veterans and eligible spouses throughout the community.

One-Stop Career Center managers should also consider holding staff meetings to provide opportunities for informal training and general sharing of program information, policies, procedures and updates.

POINT OF ENTRY AND INITIAL SERVICES

One-Stop Career Centers must have intake forms or sign-in sheets to identify veterans and eligible spouses when they visit service delivery points in person or through other means. In order to encourage individuals to self-identify, One-Stop Career Centers must develop and prominently display signs that clearly describe priority of service and the registration process. This information must also be conveyed when veterans and eligible spouses access services electronically or by telephone.

It is the responsibility of the One-Stop Career Center manager to establish customized processes for providing priority of service within the local/state strategic guidance. At intake, this can be accomplished by assessing veteran's status through sign-in sheets. Another alternative is to establish a way to greet veterans similar to the way airports provide priority service to some of their priority passengers. One-Stops can create veteran only sign-in sheets or designated veteran areas in the One-Stop Career Centers. Staff should also be trained to ask about veteran status at intake. Whatever policies are established, they should be consistent in providing priority of service for the use of self-service resources and staff assisted services.

It is important to distinguish between identifying a veteran for priority of service and verifying a veteran's status. At the point of entry, it is neither necessary nor appropriate to require verification of the status of a veteran or eligible spouse.

If an individual self-identifies as a veteran or eligible spouse at a One-Stop Career Center, that individual should be provided immediate priority in the delivery of employment and training services.

When a veteran or eligible spouse undergoes eligibility determination for enrollment (e.g. in WIA Adult programs), it is appropriate to initiate verification of veteran status.

If a veteran or an eligible spouse, at the point of eligibility determination and enrollment, does not have documentation verifying his/her eligibility for priority of service, he/she is to be afforded access on a priority basis to all services provided by program staff (including intensive services) while awaiting verification.

The only services that require prior verification of eligibility for priority of service are those that require a commitment of outside resources, such as classroom training.

- ◆ The One-Stop Career Center manager has the responsibility to establish a process for providing priority of service ...
- ◆ Revisions of forms, sign-in sheets and other means to identify veterans and eligible spouse may be necessary ...
- ◆ Signage is an important element in ensuring veterans identify themselves ...
- ◆ Staff should be trained to ask about veteran status at intake ...
- ◆ One-Stop Career Centers may establish veteran-only sign-in sheets, or designated areas patterned after airport practices for priority passengers ...
- ◆ If an individual self-identifies as a veteran or spouse at a One-Stop Career Center, the individual should be provided immediate priority.

CORE, INTENSIVE, AND TRAINING SERVICES

One-Stop Career Center managers must put in place procedures that allow veterans and eligible spouses to receive priority of service at all stages of core, intensive and training services.

For veterans who are recently separated or who have recently lost their jobs due to the economic downturn, many of these intensive services will be vital to preparing them for employment. The use of assessment and testing can be important tools for ensuring that veterans and eligible spouses receive the services that they need to be successful. Based on these assessments, veterans and eligible spouses should receive priority in accessing training that is determined necessary by the case managers. This may include occupational skills training, on-the-job training, job readiness training, adult education and literacy, and/or employer customized training. In order to ensure priority of service, One-Stop Career Center managers must see to it that veterans and eligible spouses receive intensive services before other non-covered persons. Similarly, veterans and eligible spouses are to receive first priority on any waiting list that are maintained for training slots and they are to be enrolled in training prior to non-covered persons. However, once a participant is enrolled in a workshop or training class, he/she may not be displaced by a veteran or eligible spouse for that class or service.

The use of assessment and testing can be important tools for ensuring that veterans and eligible spouses receive the services they need to be successful.

Training may include:

- ◆ Occupational skills training
- ◆ On-the-job training
- ◆ Job readiness training
- ◆ Adult education and literacy
- ◆ Employer customized training

One-Stop Career Center managers should also consider developing job search workshops that are specific to the needs of veterans and eligible spouses in the area. These workshops may be held in conjunction with the Transition Assistance Program (TAP) employment workshop sessions for separating service members or in conjunction with orientations offered by LVER/DVOP staff.

Targeting policies for specific populations, such as the WIA formula programs, should note that priority of service for veterans and priority of service for low income individuals should be implemented in tandem. Therefore, low income veterans and eligible spouses would receive first priority, followed by low income non-covered persons. For more information on this, see Section I. Programs with Statutory Priorities, in Attachment A of TEGL 10-09.

BUSINESS SERVICE UNITS

The One-Stop Career Center staff must review and update current employer outreach strategies to ensure that veterans and eligible spouses are integrated into service delivery strategies. This may include changes to outreach information given to the business community as well as identifying new employers for promoting the hiring of veterans. Veteran status should be "flagged" in systems that match job seekers with job postings to help employers identify veterans and eligible spouses' job seekers. Some suggestions for providing priority of service when working with employers include:

- ◆ Coordinating the employer outreach and job development activities undertaken by business service units with the related responsibilities of LVER staff;
- ◆ "Flagging" of Federal job opportunities, in order to guide veterans to these listings;
- ◆ Use of "veteran-only" electronic employment resources;
- ◆ Identifying employers who are interested in hiring veterans;
- ◆ Identifying Federal contractors required by the Department of Labor's Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP) to provide hiring preference to veterans and promote the hiring of veterans;
- ◆ Inviting employers to workshops that promote the benefits of hiring veterans;
- ◆ Working with industry sectors that include occupations that crosswalk well to military training, education and experience; and
- ◆ Promoting job fairs for veterans and eligible spouses.

VIRTUAL SERVICES

In addition to revising paper forms, One-Stop Career Centers must be prepared to institute information collection at virtual points of entry to meet the requirements of the Priority of Service regulations.

This means that Web sites must include content that explains priority of service, as well as provides veterans and eligible spouses with an opportunity to self-identify through virtual sign-up and registration forms. Once identified through virtual access points, One-Stop Career Center staff, including the DVOP/LVER staff, may contact the veteran or eligible spouse to inform them of the full array of services available through the One-Stop Career Center.

Web sites must include content that explains priority of service, as well as provide veterans and eligible spouses with an opportunity to self-identify through virtual sign-up and registration forms

Likewise, call centers and information hotlines must make sure that scripts, pre-recorded announcements, and standard greetings inform callers of priority of service for veterans and eligible spouses.

OUTREACH

As part of implementing priority of service, One-Stops are encouraged, but not required to implement an outreach strategy. There are many ways a One-Stop can create a robust outreach strategy to engage various types of veterans including transitioning, separated, and/or homeless veterans and eligible spouses.

FOUR STEPS TO CONSIDER

1. Connecting to nearby military installations in order to engage transitioning service members and eligible spouses;
3. Working with Local Veterans' Employment Representatives, and Disabled Veterans' Outreach Program specialists to ensure coordination with DOL VETS funded programs;
3. Visiting local homeless shelters and stand downs to encourage homeless veterans to access the One-Stops; and
4. Working with the Department of Veterans Affairs to serve veterans in the community who may need support gaining employment.

GETTING THE WORD OUT TO VETERANS AND ELIGIBLE SPOUSES WHO HAVE VISITED ONE-STOP CAREER CENTERS IN THE PAST

- ✓ The use of posted bulletins and brochures inside the One-Stop Career Center and at job fairs, veterans' services and benefits fairs, stand downs, and community events is a valuable and inexpensive way to conduct outreach and to promote priority of service to veterans and eligible spouses.
- ✓ Outreach to Veterans Service Organizations is also an effective strategy. These organizations welcome the opportunity to disseminate information and to schedule presentations about services available to their members.
- ✓ One-Stop Career Centers may also generate a list of veterans who have visited the One-Stop but have not received staff assisted services and attempt to re-engage them by sending letters, making phone calls, or sending email.

CONCLUSION

The requirement to provide priority of service applies to all WIA, Wagner-Peyser Act, discretionary grants, targeted programs (Senior Community Service Employment Program, Indian and Native American Programs, National Farmworkers Job Programs, and Trade Adjustment Assistance) and all other programs and services funded in whole or in part by the DOL. Agreement by a program operator to implement priority of service is a condition of receipt of DOL funds. This requirement cannot be waived.

To help the workforce system implement priority of service, this Protocol, along with the guidance in TEGL 10-09 and VPL 07-09, provides an overview of some promising strategies to implement priority of service to veterans and eligible spouses. While the strategies discussed here show promise for addressing the service delivery strategies for implementing priority of service, there are many other policies and practices that can be implemented to ensure that program operators are in compliance with the JVA.

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

ETA's Regional office staff can provide additional information and examples of ways to implement priority of service to meet the requirements set forth in the JVA. For a listing of ETA Regional Offices, visit: http://www.doleta.gov/Regions/regoffices/Pages/eta_default.cfm

The careeronestop website, www.myskillsmyfuture.org, can help career changers find new occupations to explore. Users can identify occupations that require skills and knowledge similar to their current or previous job, learn more about these suggested matches, locate local training programs, and/or apply for jobs.

VETS and ETA have Regional Directors Administrators co-located at each of the six ETA Regional Office locations. In addition, VETS has Directors of Veterans Employment and Training (DVETs) in every state. These federal officials are familiar with the veteran communities within the states to which they are assigned and can provide valuable information and examples of promising practices for providing priority of service and provide connections to VETS programs and grants in the state. For a listing of VETS Regional Offices and State Offices, visit: <http://www.dol.gov/vets/aboutvets/contacts/main.htm#RegionalStateDirectory>

Finally, DVOP specialists and LVER staff members in the One-Stop Career Center can be a valuable resource and can help to facilitate the delivery of services to veterans. DVOP specialists and LVER staff members can cross-train One-Stop Career Center staff and can provide tailored services to veterans and eligible spouses who have barriers to employment and who meet the eligibility criteria for those services. It is important to note that veterans can and should be served by any One-Stop staff; LVERs and DVOPs have specialized roles in the One-Stops and their experiences make them experts in addressing the unique needs of veterans.

A veteran who is eligible or spouse of an eligible veteran who is entitled to receive priority of service is a person who has served at least one day in the active military, naval, or air service, and who was discharged or released from service under any condition other than a condition classified as dishonorable is a covered person. This definition includes Reserve units and National Guard units activated for Federal Service.

It is important to note that the definition of veteran in the Jobs For Veterans Act (JVA), the Priority of Service Regulations and TEGL 10-09 differs from the definition of veteran that applies to reporting of Wagner-Peyser services and to eligibility to receive services from a Disabled Veterans’ Outreach Program (DVOP) specialist or a Local Veterans’ Employment Representative (LVER) staff member. The veteran definition that requires the individual to have over 180 days of active service still applies to Wagner-Peyser reporting and to eligibility for DVOP and LVER services but does not apply to priority of service in DOL-funded employment and training programs. It is the responsibility of the program operator to ensure that policies and procedures and staff training reflect the correct eligibility definition.

BACKGROUND

The Jobs for Veterans Act (JVA), PL 107-288, signed into law on November 7, 2002, requires that there be priority of service for veterans and eligible spouses in any workforce preparation, development, or delivery program or service directly funded in whole or in part, by the U.S. Department of Labor (38 U.S.C. 4215). The Priority of Service regulations, codified at 20 CFR 1010, were issued December 19, 2008 and require qualified job training programs to implement priority of service for veterans and eligible spouses, effective January 19, 2009.

To provide additional guidance to the workforce investment system and all impacted grantees, the ETA and the Veterans' Employment and Training Service (VETS) issued guidance regarding implementation of priority of service on November 10, 2009, through Training and Guidance Letter (TEGL) 10-09 and Veterans' Program Letter (VPL) No. 07-09. That guidance details the requirements of State Workforce Agencies (SWAs), local WIBs, and One-Stop Career Centers in providing priority of service to veterans and eligible spouses; the law refers to these individuals as "covered persons." For the purpose of this Protocol, we will refer to covered persons as "veterans and eligible spouses." Those persons not eligible for priority of service are referred to in this protocol as "non-covered persons."

Service providers should have processes in place at the point of entry to the system to identify veterans and eligible spouses who are entitled to priority of service. Priority of service means the right of veterans and eligible spouses to take precedence over a non-covered person in obtaining all employment and training services. Depending on the type of service, this may mean veterans and eligible spouses receive services earlier in time or instead of non-covered persons.

GOAL FOR THIS PROTOCOL

The goal of this Protocol is to provide action steps to support the strategic planning of the SWAs, local WIBs, One-Stop Career Centers, and other targeted grantees and to provide effective strategies for service delivery for veterans and eligible spouses in One-Stop Career Centers. This Protocol can also help assess current procedures and improve priority of service methods for all levels of the workforce system.

The Protocol amplifies information from the Priority of Service regulations, TEGL 10-09 and VPL 07-09 and does not contain any new or conflicting information. Its purpose is to provide information, suggestions, and examples about how to effectively implement priority of service to meet the requirements of the Department's regulations. After reviewing this protocol, individuals managing the Department's grants, will have useful tools and examples to help inform their planning and implementation of priority of service.

DETERMINING THE STATUS OF A VETERAN

Veteran status is determined from answers to some key questions:

1. "Did the individual serve on active duty in the U.S. Armed Services?"
2. "Is the individual still in the Armed Forces?"

Answers of "yes" to the first question and "no" the second question may qualify the person as a veteran or eligible spouse.

3. "Finally, what type of discharge did the individual receive?"

NOTE:

- The full definition of veteran and eligible spouse is specified in 38 U.S.C. 101(2).
- The definition of veteran for the purposes of priority of service is different from the definition of veteran that applies under the Wagner-Peyser Act. To meet the requirements of priority of service, you must use the definition included in 20 CFR 1010.
- Only a veteran's discharge clearly categorized as "Dishonorable" would bar a veteran or a veteran's spouse from eligibility for priority of service.

Any discharge that is not dishonorable qualifies the individual as a veteran who is entitled to priority of service

DETERMINING THE STATUS OF ELIGIBLE SPOUSES

An "eligible spouse" means a spouse of any of the following:

- a. A spouse of any veteran who died of a service-connected disability;
- b. A spouse of any member of the Armed Forces serving on active duty who, at the time of application for the priority, is listed in one or more of the following categories and has been so listed for a total of more than 90 days;
 - i. Missing in action;
 - ii. Captured in the line of duty by a hostile force; or
 - iii. Forcibly detained or interned in the line of duty by a foreign government or power.
- c. A spouse of any veteran who has a total disability resulting from a service-connected disability, as evaluated by the Department of Veterans Affairs; or
- d. A spouse of any veteran who died while a disability was in existence.

A spouse whose eligibility is derived from a living veteran or service member (categories b. or c. above) would lose his or her eligibility if the veteran or service member was to lose the status that is the basis for the eligibility (e.g. if a veteran with a total service-connected disability were to receive a revised disability rating at a lower level). Similarly, a spouse whose eligibility is derived from a living veteran or service member would lose that eligibility upon divorce from the veteran or service member. However, a spouse who qualifies under categories a. or d. would not lose covered status through subsequent remarriage.

THE STATE WORKFORCE AGENCY'S ROLE IN IMPLEMENTING PRIORITY

The process of effectively and uniformly implementing priority of service begins with the State Workforce Agency conducting a strategic review and analysis of its policies and procedures to identify where priority of service applies and where guidance from the state is needed.

While the Priority of Service Regulations and joint guidance issued by ETA and VETS provide definitions and requirements, the state has a strong role in applying them to their programs by creating and implementing policies, procedures and ensuring that priority of service is implemented uniformly and appropriately across its local systems

Implement communication strategies among SWAs, local WIBs, One-Stop Career Center managers, and sub-recipients to ensure that policy changes and expectations are clearly articulated, strategies for priority of service are clearly conveyed, and solutions to barriers to priority of service are generated and shared.

To meet the requirements in the regulations and the TEGL, and to ensure that veterans and eligible spouses receive the priority of service offered to them by law, states should have comprehensive policies, state plans, procedures and processes that address:

- ◆ Implementation of priority of service by the State Workforce Agency, local WIBs, and One-Stop Career Centers for all employment and training services delivered through the state's workforce system;
- ◆ Guidance for local WIBs on strategic planning and required areas for policy and service delivery changes;
- ◆ Necessary adjustments to Web sites and other portals by which job seekers remotely access resources, including self-service resources, to notify users of priority of service to ensure veterans and eligible spouses receive this benefit;
- ◆ Integration of DVOP specialists and LVER staff members, both as sources of information on priority of service, as well as specialized service providers for those veterans who qualify to receive their services;
- ◆ Language in contracts, sub-contracts, solicitations for grant awards, sub-grants, memoranda of understanding (MOUs), and other service provision agreements to ensure compliance with priority of service by sub-recipients;
- ◆ Data collection procedures and tools to track services to veterans and eligible spouses; and
- ◆ Monitoring of sub-recipients to ensure compliance with priority of service requirements.

STATE STRATEGIC PLANNING AND GUIDANCE

States and local areas should include veteran's priority of service in their strategic planning. The state's planning should consider:

1. Recently separated veterans who are in need of support to enter the civilian workforce for the first time, including veterans who need assistance in transferring their skills, experience, and credentials to the civilian job market;
2. Veterans who have been back in the civilian workforce for some time and may be experiencing unemployment as a result of the economic downturn; and
3. Veterans who have had long periods of unemployment and may require additional support due to homelessness, disabilities or other barriers to employment.

Veteran's priority of service should be included in local planning as well. State Workforce Agencies should encourage local WIBs and One-Stop Career Centers to use data and e-tools to inform strategic planning at the local level to serve veterans and eligible spouses. This might include labor market information, O*NET, military credential translation, and other e-tools which will inform and support the strategic implementation of priority of service. States should encourage local WIBs and One-Stop Career Centers to investigate strategic partnering with required and optional One-Stop partners and other organizations to serve veterans and eligible spouses. This may include partnering with local non-profits to participate in stand downs for homeless veterans; DOL VETS programs; and the Department of Veterans Affairs offices to support the needs of the veteran community. In addition to incorporating veteran's priority of service into strategic planning, states should include specific veteran's priority of service information in its WIA/Wagner-Peyser Act state plan.

A stand down for homeless veterans is a secure event where veterans are able to take care of personal hygiene, get clean clothing, enjoy warm meals, receive medical and dental care, mail and receive letters, and enjoy the camaraderie of friends in a safe environment. For a list of events, visit <http://www.nchv.org/standdownevents.cfm>

LOCAL WORKFORCE INVESTMENT BOARD ROLE IN IMPLEMENTING PRIORITY OF SERVICE

Similar to the process recommended for State Workforce Agencies, local WIBs are encouraged to begin by conducting a strategic review and analysis of their policies, procedures, and service delivery strategies to identify points where priority of service should be implemented. While the local WIB policy is likely to mirror state policies, it is critical that policies addressing priority of service are operationalized in a way that provides veterans and eligible spouses with the full range of employment and training services in a manner that is comprehensive, customer-driven, and seamless.

The guidance issued by the Department requires local WIBs to develop policies implementing priority of service for the One-Stop Career Centers and other service delivery providers in their strategic local plan. Policies should inform veterans and eligible spouses of:

- ◆ Their entitlement to priority of service;
- ◆ The full array of employment, training, and placement services available under priority of service; and
- ◆ Any applicable eligibility requirements for those programs and/or services.

ONE-STOP CAREER CENTER ROLE IN IMPLEMENTING PRIORITY OF SERVICE

While only minor adjustments may be needed, at a minimum, One-Stop Career Centers need to review and evaluate whether their current policies, procedures, and service delivery processes meet the requirements of law and regulations along with the applicable TEG and this supplementary guidance. Additionally, staff at all levels will need training to understand the depth and breadth of what the law requires. In some One-Stop Career Centers, changes may be minimal and involve updates to policies.

See TEG 10-09 guidance for implementation of priority of service for veterans and eligible spouses in all qualified job training programs funded in whole or in part by DOL.

ONE-STOP CAREER CENTER POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Local One-Stop Career Centers must develop local policies and procedures to improve integration of priority of service into existing service delivery strategies. This means that One-Stop managers should establish business processes to ensure that veterans and eligible spouses are identified at the “point of entry” and to facilitate the implementation of priority of service by informing veterans and eligible spouses of:

1. Their entitlement to priority of service;
2. The full array of employment, training and placement services available under priority of service; and
3. Any applicable eligibility requirements for those programs and/or services.

Point of Entry
can include Reception Areas, Resource Areas, Web sites, Self-service Kiosks, and Informational bulletin boards, etc.

QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER

Has the One-Stop Career Center evaluated its service provision to all groups of veterans including:

1. Separating veterans who are in need of support to enter the civilian workforce for the first time including veterans who need assistance transferring their skills, experience, and credentials to the civilian job market;
2. Veterans who have been back in the civilian workforce for some time and may be experiencing unemployment as a result of the economic downturn; and
3. Veterans who have had long periods of unemployment and may require additional support due to homelessness, or disabilities and other barriers to employment?

TRAINING OF ONE-STOP CAREER CENTER STAFF

Helping veterans obtain training and employment is the responsibility of all One-Stop Career Center staff. All One Stop Career Center staff should be trained in priority of service requirements. This training will allow veterans’ representatives and One-Stop Career Center program staff to learn about veterans’ needs and the resources available to help veterans access the full range of services available in the community.

AREAS OF STAFF TRAINING SHOULD INCLUDE:

- ◆ Understanding the definitions of veteran and eligible spouse;
- ◆ Knowing the requirements of priority of service;
- ◆ Obtaining DD-214 forms and other state-approved documentation of veteran status and clarifying when that documentation must be provided;
- ◆ Providing training on the specific needs of various populations of veterans and eligible spouses;
- ◆ Using data and tools that are specific to serving veterans, to evaluate military experience and credentials against civilian occupations;
- ◆ Understanding the criteria that qualify some veterans and eligible spouses for the specialized services of DVOP specialists and LVER staff; and
- ◆ Becoming familiar with other services available to veterans and eligible spouses throughout the community.

One-Stop Career Center managers should also consider holding staff meetings to provide opportunities for informal training and general sharing of program information, policies, procedures and updates.

POINT OF ENTRY AND INITIAL SERVICES

One-Stop Career Centers must have intake forms or sign-in sheets to identify veterans and eligible spouses when they visit service delivery points in person or through other means. In order to encourage individuals to self-identify, One-Stop Career Centers must develop and prominently display signs that clearly describe priority of service and the registration process. This information must also be conveyed when veterans and eligible spouses access services electronically or by telephone.

It is the responsibility of the One-Stop Career Center manager to establish customized processes for providing priority of service within the local/state strategic guidance. At intake, this can be accomplished by assessing veteran's status through sign-in sheets. Another alternative is to establish a way to greet veterans similar to the way airports provide priority service to some of their priority passengers. One-Stops can create veteran only sign-in sheets or designated veteran areas in the One-Stop Career Centers. Staff should also be trained to ask about veteran status at intake. Whatever policies are established, they should be consistent in providing priority of service for the use of self-service resources and staff assisted services.

It is important to distinguish between identifying a veteran for priority of service and verifying a veteran's status. At the point of entry, it is neither necessary nor appropriate to require verification of the status of a veteran or eligible spouse.

If an individual self-identifies as a veteran or eligible spouse at a One-Stop Career Center, that individual should be provided immediate priority in the delivery of employment and training services.

When a veteran or eligible spouse undergoes eligibility determination for enrollment (e.g. in WIA Adult programs), it is appropriate to initiate verification of veteran status.

If a veteran or an eligible spouse, at the point of eligibility determination and enrollment, does not have documentation verifying his/her eligibility for priority of service, he/she is to be afforded access on a priority basis to all services provided by program staff (including intensive services) while awaiting verification.

The only services that require prior verification of eligibility for priority of service are those that require a commitment of outside resources, such as classroom training.

- ◆ The One-Stop Career Center manager has the responsibility to establish a process for providing priority of service ...
- ◆ Revisions of forms, sign-in sheets and other means to identify veterans and eligible spouse may be necessary ...
- ◆ Signage is an important element in ensuring veterans identify themselves ...
- ◆ Staff should be trained to ask about veteran status at intake ...
- ◆ One-Stop Career Centers may establish veteran-only sign-in sheets, or designated areas patterned after airport practices for priority passengers ...
- ◆ If an individual self-identifies as a veteran or spouse at a One-Stop Career Center, the individual should be provided immediate priority.

CORE, INTENSIVE, AND TRAINING SERVICES

One-Stop Career Center managers must put in place procedures that allow veterans and eligible spouses to receive priority of service at all stages of core, intensive and training services.

For veterans who are recently separated or who have recently lost their jobs due to the economic downturn, many of these intensive services will be vital to preparing them for employment. The use of assessment and testing can be important tools for ensuring that veterans and eligible spouses receive the services that they need to be successful. Based on these assessments, veterans and eligible spouses should receive priority in accessing training that is determined necessary by the case managers. This may include occupational skills training, on-the-job training, job readiness training, adult education and literacy, and/or employer customized training. In order to ensure priority of service, One-Stop Career Center managers must see to it that veterans and eligible spouses receive intensive services before other non-covered persons. Similarly, veterans and eligible spouses are to receive first priority on any waiting list that are maintained for training slots and they are to be enrolled in training prior to non-covered persons. However, once a participant is enrolled in a workshop or training class, he/she may not be displaced by a veteran or eligible spouse for that class or service.

The use of assessment and testing can be important tools for ensuring that veterans and eligible spouses receive the services they need to be successful.

Training may include:

- ◆ Occupational skills training
- ◆ On-the-job training
- ◆ Job readiness training
- ◆ Adult education and literacy
- ◆ Employer customized training

One-Stop Career Center managers should also consider developing job search workshops that are specific to the needs of veterans and eligible spouses in the area. These workshops may be held in conjunction with the Transition Assistance Program (TAP) employment workshop sessions for separating service members or in conjunction with orientations offered by LVER/DVOP staff.

Targeting policies for specific populations, such as the WIA formula programs, should note that priority of service for veterans and priority of service for low income individuals should be implemented in tandem.

Therefore, low income veterans and eligible spouses would receive first priority, followed by low income non-covered persons. For more information on this, see Section I. Programs with Statutory Priorities, in Attachment A of TEGL 10-09.

BUSINESS SERVICE UNITS

The One-Stop Career Center staff must review and update current employer outreach strategies to ensure that veterans and eligible spouses are integrated into service delivery strategies. This may include changes to outreach information given to the business community as well as identifying new employers for promoting the hiring of veterans. Veteran status should be “flagged” in systems that match job seekers with job postings to help employers identify veterans and eligible spouses’ job seekers. Some suggestions for providing priority of service when working with employers include:

- ◆ Coordinating the employer outreach and job development activities undertaken by business service units with the related responsibilities of LVER staff;
- ◆ “Flagging” of Federal job opportunities, in order to guide veterans to these listings;
- ◆ Use of “veteran-only” electronic employment resources;
- ◆ Identifying employers who are interested in hiring veterans;
- ◆ Identifying Federal contractors required by the Department of Labor's Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP) to provide hiring preference to veterans and promote the hiring of veterans;
- ◆ Inviting employers to workshops that promote the benefits of hiring veterans;
- ◆ Working with industry sectors that include occupations that crosswalk well to military training, education and experience; and
- ◆ Promoting job fairs for veterans and eligible spouses.

VIRTUAL SERVICES

In addition to revising paper forms, One-Stop Career Centers must be prepared to institute information collection at virtual points of entry to meet the requirements of the Priority of Service regulations.

This means that Web sites must include content that explains priority of service, as well as provides veterans and eligible spouses with an opportunity to self-identify through virtual sign-up and registration forms. Once identified through virtual access points, One-Stop Career Center staff, including the DVOP/LVER staff, may contact the veteran or eligible spouse to inform them of the full array of services available through the One-Stop Career Center.

Web sites must include content that explains priority of service, as well as provide veterans and eligible spouses with an opportunity to self-identify through virtual sign-up and registration forms

Likewise, call centers and information hotlines must make sure that scripts, pre-recorded announcements, and standard greetings inform callers of priority of service for veterans and eligible spouses.

OUTREACH

As part of implementing priority of service, One-Stops are encouraged, but not required to implement an outreach strategy. There are many ways a One-Stop can create a robust outreach strategy to engage various types of veterans including transitioning, separated, and/or homeless veterans and eligible spouses.

FOUR STEPS TO CONSIDER

1. Connecting to nearby military installations in order to engage transitioning service members and eligible spouses;
3. Working with Local Veterans' Employment Representatives, and Disabled Veterans' Outreach Program specialists to ensure coordination with DOL VETS funded programs;
3. Visiting local homeless shelters and stand downs to encourage homeless veterans to access the One-Stops; and
4. Working with the Department of Veterans Affairs to serve veterans in the community who may need support gaining employment.

GETTING THE WORD OUT TO VETERANS AND ELIGIBLE SPOUSES WHO HAVE VISITED ONE-STOP CAREER CENTERS IN THE PAST

- ✓ The use of posted bulletins and brochures inside the One-Stop Career Center and at job fairs, veterans' services and benefits fairs, stand downs, and community events is a valuable and inexpensive way to conduct outreach and to promote priority of service to veterans and eligible spouses.
- ✓ Outreach to Veterans Service Organizations is also an effective strategy. These organizations welcome the opportunity to disseminate information and to schedule presentations about services available to their members.
- ✓ One-Stop Career Centers may also generate a list of veterans who have visited the One-Stop but have not received staff assisted services and attempt to re-engage them by sending letters, making phone calls, or sending email.

CONCLUSION

The requirement to provide priority of service applies to all WIA, Wagner-Peyser Act, discretionary grants, targeted programs (Senior Community Service Employment Program, Indian and Native American Programs, National Farmworkers Job Programs, and Trade Adjustment Assistance) and all other programs and services funded in whole or in part by the DOL. Agreement by a program operator to implement priority of service is a condition of receipt of DOL funds. This requirement cannot be waived.

To help the workforce system implement priority of service, this Protocol, along with the guidance in TEGL 10-09 and VPL 07-09, provides an overview of some promising strategies to implement priority of service to veterans and eligible spouses. While the strategies discussed here show promise for addressing the service delivery strategies for implementing priority of service, there are many other policies and practices that can be implemented to ensure that program operators are in compliance with the JVA.

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

ETA's Regional office staff can provide additional information and examples of ways to implement priority of service to meet the requirements set forth in the JVA. For a listing of ETA Regional Offices, visit: http://www.doleta.gov/Regions/regoffices/Pages/eta_default.cfm

The careeronestop website, www.myskillsmyfuture.org, can help career changers find new occupations to explore. Users can identify occupations that require skills and knowledge similar to their current or previous job, learn more about these suggested matches, locate local training programs, and/or apply for jobs.

VETS and ETA have Regional Directors Administrators co-located at each of the six ETA Regional Office locations. In addition, VETS has Directors of Veterans Employment and Training (DVETs) in every state. These federal officials are familiar with the veteran communities within the states to which they are assigned and can provide valuable information and examples of promising practices for providing priority of service and provide connections to VETS programs and grants in the state. For a listing of VETS Regional Offices and State Offices, visit: <http://www.dol.gov/vets/aboutvets/contacts/main.htm#RegionalStateDirectory>

Finally, DVOP specialists and LVER staff members in the One-Stop Career Center can be a valuable resource and can help to facilitate the delivery of services to veterans. DVOP specialists and LVER staff members can cross-train One-Stop Career Center staff and can provide tailored services to veterans and eligible spouses who have barriers to employment and who meet the eligibility criteria for those services. It is important to note that veterans can and should be served by any One-Stop staff; LVERs and DVOPs have specialized roles in the One-Stops and their experiences make them experts in addressing the unique needs of veterans.

Summary of Priority of Service for Eligible Veterans and Spouses

The Jobs for Veterans Act affords priority of service to covered veterans and eligible spouses over non-covered persons for the receipt of employment, training, and placement services provided under new or existing job training programs funded in whole or in part, by the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL).

AM I ELIGIBLE?

To be eligible for priority of service you must meet the following definition as a Covered Person.

The term ‘covered person’ means any of the following individuals:

- A Veteran: A person who served at least one day in the active military, naval, or air service, and who was discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable.
- Eligible Spouse: The spouse of any of the following individuals:
 - Any veteran who died of a service connected disability.
 - Any veteran who has a total disability resulting from a service- connected disability.
 - Any veteran who died while a disability so evaluated was in existence.
 - Any member of the Armed Forces serving on active duty who, at the time of application for assistance under this section, is listed, pursuant to section 556 of title 37 and regulations issued by the Secretary concerned, in one or more of the following categories and has been so listed for a total of more than 90 days -- missing in action, captured in the line of duty by a hostile force, or forcibly detained or interned in line of duty by a foreign government or power.

WHAT IT MEANS

Veterans’ priority of service means the right of eligible covered persons to take precedence over eligible non-covered persons in obtaining services. For example, this could mean:

- The covered person receives access to the service or resource earlier in time than the non-covered person; or
- If the service or resource is limited, the covered person receives access to the service or resource before the non-covered person.

WHAT ARE THE ELIGIBLE PROGRAMS?

Below is a list of programs affected by the passage of the priority of service law. This list is not all inclusive, but provides an example of the type of programs in which priority of service to qualified veterans exists. Before priority of service can be extended to any covered person in these programs, the covered person MUST be qualified to participate in the program.
